

1989

Twenty-fifth Annual Convention
August 1-3, 1989
Holiday Inn I-25 Southeast
9009 E. Arapahoe Road
Denver

Officers
Pres. – Paul Weiss

Highlights

The convention was co-hosted by the National Association of Jazz Educators (now IAJE), the American String Teachers Association and NSOA in conjunction with the CBA.

A unique clinic at this convention was a panel discussion about “Scheduling for the Entire Music Program”. The panel was made up of junior high and high school principals who shared ideas for scheduling for a successful music program.

Performing groups included:

- Jazz Explosion directed by Mike White.
- Green Earth Percussion Ensemble directed by Alan Martin and Kathy McFaddin.
- Jazz band reading session featuring the Denver Bronco Band directed by Jess Gerardi.

Marie Cotaya, a fine instrumental instructor from Louisiana, presented on the subject of methods and materials that work for the band. Public school band programs were male dominated in 1989. Marie’s presentation was a positive influence on our profession.
